Subject: HOT GAS VALVE AND STRAINER

The strainer is a protection device for the hot gas valves. When replacing the hot gas valve, it is required to replace the strainer as well as the filter drier on all units. Look for direction arrow on strainer and insure that it is pointing at the inlet of hot gas valve.

Repairs, where the strainer and drier are not replaced along with the hot gas valve are considered incomplete and may be denied.

Based on the current version of the Required Return Parts list all hot gas valves including strainers and driers should be returned within the first year of warranty.
